We would like to ask you some questions about your personal use of local news and information. By 'local' news and information we mean any news about your local area, however you define that.

People get local news and information in different ways. Some watch TV or listen to the radio in the morning, while they're getting up or driving to work. Others read newspapers or look at news on their mobiles on their commute. Some will read it online throughout the day either on a PC, laptop or mobile phone app. Others get updates through social media such as Facebook and WhatsApp groups and many watch news bulletins on TV in the evening or have the radio on in the background.

So, when answering the following questions, please think about your whole day and all the times you might be coming across with local news and information.

Q1a) How important is each of the following types of news and information to you?

1. Local news and information
2. UK news
3. Foreign/international news
4. Celebrity news
5. Sports news
6. Headlines – i.e. Top stories
7. Breaking news – i.e. News that's happening now
8. Political news
9. In depth analysis

10 point scale:

'Very important' to 'not important at all'
